

Doing It Together Spending Your Leisure Time in the Same Place

In case you're unfamiliar with the concept, let us acquaint you with leisure time ... that coveted opportunity which presents itself when we either schedule it in or pleasantly find ourselves faced with the chance to snag it. Many of us live such fast paced and often over-filled life styles that leisure time comes too infrequently. And if you're in a dating or committed relationship with someone, you've possibly created a mindset that real leisure time is your individual, private time you either spend alone or with a group of other people doing something recreational. Seldom does that activity include your partner. If you're one of the few couples that does spend leisure time together you've discovered something we'd like to share: playing together gives your relationship a secret weapon! You've given yourself a great tool - it's like trading in the paste you used in kindergarten for superglue. Or giving up your broom for a blower. Or going from 8 Track tapes to DVRs. You get the idea.

If you're ready to turbo-charge your relationship, we've got some great news for you: it's so easy! And, it doesn't mean you have to trade your private dude or chick time in. There is true, beneficial value in each of you having your own same-sex friendships, and we're not advocating giving that up. (Did we just hear the once-a-week golfer and the coffee shop addict breathe a sigh of relief?) We are, however, recommending you add another dimension to your leisure world: picking at least one activity to engage in together.

Ready for that turbo-charge? Let's start by filling your minds with all the endless possibilities ... Contact Us today to discover them!